MAPS & PLANS

This guide is arranged in alphabetical order of townships or civil parishes. A few additional names of rivers (e.g. Swale river) & larger areas (e.g. Swaledale) are also included in the alphabetical sequence.

Copies of most of the maps which appear in this list can be provided in accordance with current reprography charges in the form of either

- (i) facsimiles made from microfilm (usually called print-outs) on A3 size sheets: a map which is larger than A3 size normally has to be reproduced on several sheets
- or (ii) dye line prints made from transparent tracings or facsimiles: these are normally the same size as the originals

Copies of the first edition (1853-7) Ordnance Survey maps at the scale of 6 inches to 1 mile for the whole of the North Riding and some parts of the West and East Ridings are available for consultation as are many of the Ordnance Survey maps at the scale of 25 inches to 1 mile. Dye line prints of most of the 6 inch and some of the 25 inch maps may be purchased and microfilm print-outs of all of them can be provided. Appendix I gives brief details of the number of the microfilms on which the Ordnance Survey maps will be found. A detailed list of all the Ordnance Survey sheets available together with key maps may be consulted in the search room.

Appendix 2 gives brief details of North Yorkshire maps held by the Public Record Office.

Full descriptions of enclosure maps noted in this list are given in Guide no 4.

References to original documents are included in this list but the more important references for most users are those which appear on the far right hand side of the page and the symbols which appear on the far left hand side of the page.

 At top left is a table: general statement of owners and quantities of lands within the township of Romalldkirk. At lower middle are 'Remarks The lands which are edged only with colour are altogether in Romalldkirk: but those that are entirely coloured, though they lie within the boundary of the township of Romalldkirk, are nevertheless held under the lord of the manor of Hunderthwaite and pay all parochial cesses to Hunderthwaite. The allotments of common (which are not numbered) are directed by the Act of Parliament to follow the tenure of the old lands in respect of which they are allotted. The tenants of the manor of Romalldkirk have the wood grown upon their lands, and may both use and sell it; but those of Hunderthwaite can only take it for their own particular use and cannot sell the surplus, which is claimed by the Earl of Strathmore, lord of the manor'

 A very neat reproduction, the closes body-tinted and numbered, the schedule of properties in tables to top left. But all on old tracing-paper: mounted on linen, yet frail

 A plan of the township of Romalldkirk
 [In vignette of tree hanging over fissured rock]
 Ink on cartridge, mounted and bound 102 x 24 ins with a 14 x 4.25 ins extension flap at south-east
 No scale [query 3.50 chains to 1 inch] north point or surveyor
 Apparently a master-plan; since after being very neatly executed in the first place, it has been subsequently used for the plotting of different minor allotments, sub-divisions and changes of ownership
 Now becoming shabby, the cartridge paper cracking, but generally fair
 The Rev. Reginald Bligh [entitled as lord of the manor and as rector], like other of the persons named, was there in 1803
 Apparently prepared for purposes of an Enclosure Award
